The Little Leaven (1 Cor. 5:6-7)

Rev Freddy Yong, Lord's Day 29 May 2022

Dearly beloved, how are you keeping up your spiritual walk with the Lord? Today I want to remind us of some of the unnoticed things that may affect our love for one another.

Jesus used leaven as a picture of sin when He warned against the “leaven of the Pharisees” (Matt. 16:6-12). Paul used leaven as a symbol of sin in the church at Corinth. He said, “Know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump. Purge out, therefore, the old leaven...” (1 Cor. 5:6-7). Yeast is truly a good illustration of sin: it is small, but it grows and permeates the whole lump if left alone.

The false doctrine of the Judaizers was introduced to the Galatian churches in a small way, but before long, the “yeast” grew and eventually took over. Doctrinal error does not suddenly overpower a church. Like leaven, it sips in quietly, develops, and poisons the whole congregation before long.

It is not wrong to have fellowship in a church, but we should never think that when someone just spills a little gossip about someone, it is just a joke, but then it escalates into something sinister. How easy it is for the yeast to grow. Before long, that little joke is blown out of proportion and cannot be retracted. Let me relate a story.

A farmer's wife had spread a slanderous story about her pastor through the village, and soon the whole countryside had heard it. Sometime later, the woman became sick and confessed it was untrue. After her recovery, she came to the pastor and craved his pardon. The old pastor said, “Of course, I will gladly pardon you if you will comply with my wish,” “Gladly,” replied the woman. “Go home. Kill a black hen, pluck the feathers, put them in a basket, and bring them here.”

In half an hour, she was back. “Now,” said the pastor, “go through the village and at each street corner scatter a few of these feathers; the remaining ones take to the top of the bell tower and scatter them to the winds, then return.” She did so. “Now go through the village, gather the feathers again, and see that not one is missing.”

The woman looked at the pastor in astonishment and said, “Why that is impossible! The wind has scattered them over the fields everywhere!”

“And so,” said he, “while I forgive you gladly, do not forget that you can never undo the damage your untrue words have done.”

Beware of the leaven of gossiping! Our Chinese proverb says: Think thrice before you say it!
